☞ A Medallic History of the Bible: a series of sixty beautiful medals, after designs by Rubens, Domenichino, Raphael, &c., illustrative of the Holy Scriptures. The series is contained in five cases lined with velvet; one set presented to his late Majesty, William the Fourth, cost five hundred and twenty-five pounds. It is the only set known to be in this country, with the exception of one at Washington, presented by the designer to President Jackson; each of the crowned heads of Europe received a set, for which the designer received a great number of royal presents and had titles conferred on him. The late Emperor of Russia presented him with five sets of the Russian medals, of four hundred and fifty each, containing a history of that great empire during the last nine hundred and eighty years.
